

PerioPal is pleased to announce its newest release.

Known for its innovative approach to solving the challenges of traditional periodontal charting, PerioPal once again responds to the needs of the dental practice with a new licensing policy.

Now...PerioPal is licensed by purchasing blocks of exams.

PerioPal has a new licensing policy enabling the system to be installed on as many workstations as desired.

All workstations sharing a database are able to access a common “pool” of activated exams. A new exam is recorded and stored utilizing one activated exam. Any PerioPal workstation having access to the database can recall a previously recorded exam regardless of which workstation initially performed the exam.

PerioPal lowers the barrier of high software ownership costs for periodontal exams.

“Last year we reviewed the advancements in server technology along with our existing licensing policies. We set out to make certain that our policies are flexible enough to allow users to take advantage of the performance benefits of PerioPal while simultaneously reducing costs and maximizing their IT investment.”

~ Michael Reeves, PerioPal's Software Developer

What a great idea! Now the practice can purchase the examinations on demand. PerioPal was first class before...saving so much time for the hygiene department in the charting procedures. This makes it a hundred times better. I will continue to refer PerioPal to all my clients.

PerioPal is much more than just a software vendor. They are foursquare behind helping the doctor fully utilize their product.

We are so happy with PerioPal! The system is user friendly and a powerful tool that incorporates the patient with their perio health. Hearing their scores and seeing the graphic chart provides the "visual" patients need to understand and accept their oral health. After 25 years in hygiene, I thought I could not learn a "new trick", but PerioPal provided excellent training and made it easy.

Congratulations! PerioPal created an extremely efficient program—voice charting software that really works! Without a doubt, PerioPal has exceeded my clinical expectations. It is an invaluable asset for clinical documentation and patient education.
